Davis & Davis Promotes new Director of Architecture

Jeremiah Doornbos takes on a new role as Director of Architecture, a new position for the firm!

Farmington Hills, Mich. (February 14, 2024) – Davis & Davis is proud to announce Jeremiah (Jeremy) Doornbos, Associate AIA, NCARB, LEED AP, presently Senior Project Designer and Project Architect, has been promoted as the firm’s new Director of Architecture. This newly created position represents growth and a shift in the firm’s focus and capabilities over the past several years.

“Jeremy exemplifies the technical skill, substantial experience, as well as the architectural, and design excellence that have come to define the work produced by Davis & Davis. We were thrilled to have Jeremy join our team two years ago, knowing his demeanor and character would be an excellent fit with our team. In that time, Jeremy has led our Retail Rollout service team in significant growth, and we are looking forward to having him broaden his responsibilities with the firm to extend his influence and share his talent in all areas of Architectural Services.” said Jamie Jordan, Partner & Managing Director.

Jeremiah attended Lawrence Technical University for his undergraduate degree in Architecture and he received a master’s degree in architecture from the University of Michigan. He has been involved in a number of high-profile projects in SE Michigan, including, the FirstMerit Bank corporate office renovation, UWM Pontiac Campus expansion, and The M Den Detroit. With more than 20 years of experience in leading teams of designers and consultants through the development of a project, Jeremy is knowledgeable, experienced, and capable of taking a project from inception to completion at all scales. In his new role, he will oversee, ensure, and encourage others to do the same.

Howard Davis, Founding Partner added, “Jeremy brings a wealth of experience and a high level of expertise to our firm. He has an extensive knowledge of design, construction documentation, and the built environment. In addition, his organizational skills and keen attention to detail enable him to manage and streamline multiple projects concurrently. Jeremy is a pleasure to work with, his easy manner and clear communication make him a trusted resource for staff and clients.”

Presently, the firm has projects in Michigan, as well as several in New York, Illinois, and 12 other states. Jeremy will be a driving force in overseeing process, production, and excellence in all projects, local and throughout the US.
